

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus for transporting non free-flowing pastes using a vessel having a lower conical portion where the cone has an angle which provides for mass flow of the non free-flowing pastes when there is an application of compressed air on the surface of the non free-flowing pastes in the vessel.